

Article 364: Learning, Growing Developing??

The Hopi Indians, who believed they originally came up from below ground, have a greeting which essentially says, "It's a great pleasure to see how far up you've come!" ...while I look and declare that it is sad to see what you've limited yourself down to.

Even if you don't believe that life is purposeful suffering ...or that life is a trial or lesson, you probably do believe that you are learning, growing, and developing, ...right? ...or that you are evolving. You look around and see trees growing, children learning and developing, animals evolving, things changing, life expanding and enlarging ...and readily assume that's all happening to you as well, ...after all, you can tell me of many things you've "learned" while growing up ...and you can tell me of how things have changed and developed, so, certainly you reason, all of this is happening to you as well, ...right? ...but what if you are all wrong? ...have you ever considered that possibility? And if you are wrong, ...how would that change your life? And wouldn't that change the learning, growing, developing relationship you have with an intimate partner?

If you believe you are learning, growing, developing, consider the fact that your minding screens out much more data and information than it passes on for your acceptance and belief.

You use your mind to pick and choose, decide or reject, believe or disbelieve, act upon or ignore, illuminate or conceal, expand or lessen, confirm or deny ...and all such mindings and actions shackle you irrevocably to memory ...and repeating the same cycles of life over and over. Why do you use your mind to sort-out, eliminate, and react ...and call that living? ...and why ever do you call that learning, growing, and developing?

Why not create the thoughts you want to be ...and be that in the life and world you truly desire? Do you really believe you can lessen your self and mind to happiness? ...or to the self and life you truly desire?

Are you responding to the universe? ...or is the universe responding to you? You've never really considered the possibility that the universe is responding to you ...have you? At best, you believe that maybe, just maybe your universe is possibly responding to you ...which not a very strong or positive believe ...is it? ...but you are certain that the big universe "does it's thing" independent of your desires, ...right? Ohh, maybe you can use your mind to bend a spoon ...or affect a lover, but affecting the big universe is ridiculous, ...isn't it?

Then give serious consideration to this question: Is science discovering how the universe works or creating a greater universe? Actually, in lessening their limitations, scientists are creating a greater universe ...and the universe is responding.

Centuries ago, in deciding to dedicate my self and life to discovering how the universe works ..and show others, I never realized that I would be showing the universe how it can work! ...after all, I reasoned, if the universe responded to me, how could it possibly respond to everyone 3lw3? ...after all, there are too many souls and desires for the universe to contend with and support. Just the thought of that was too staggering! ...but now, maybe the universe has learned, grown, and developed enough to do just that.

Are you willing to be inspired by the self and life you inspire? ...think carefully about this question, lest you continue limiting yourself and the universe to being the self and universe you limit.

In an allmind universe, and contrary to common misbeliefs this is an all mind universe, knowledge of yourself and the world you live in begins by your experiencing life's natural sequential-pattern of things ...and adjusting yourself to that pattern ...or modifying the pattern to you; ...this constant interactive-process expands life's natural sequential-pattern ...and expands your self and life in life's life and universe.

Is this all mind sequenced "stuff" getting too weird for you? If so, reread and answer last week's Article (no. 362) before continuing.

Waiting!

Waiting!

Waiting!

Life's sequential pattern is not a feedback process ...which requires a goal or purpose, this allmind sequential pattern is a mutually interactive pattern of shared benefit between you and the universe, which is why you cannot have direct, independent knowledge of things, for this sequential interaction with life simultaneously alters you and life, yet, of course, you and the universe remain for others as they are.

You are showing the universe how it can be and work!

All of this is much the same, yet a more-expansive understanding of quantum mechanic's observation that an observer affects the effects ...or determines the results. You are "teaching" the universe how to be "greater" than it is.

The "facts" and "truths" you've heard about life and the universe only occur in language. The commonality of language-minding yields common results based on the pattern of language, Unfortunately, language follows a common pattern of duality and cause and effect ...which is not a sequential-pattern that offers freedom and understanding ...and expansive awareness, but is a pattern, like a large spider web which catches you and confines you, and is then "saved" to language-memory to be repeated again and again, ...and because this can be replicated, it is called a scientific "truth".

Don't you believe it!

Are you willing to forsake your languaged beliefs and “truths”? ...and follow the universe's sequential-patterning? Are you willing to rejoice in the universe ...and excite together? ...or even disappoint together? ...but never discourage, mourn, depress, anger, or grieve? Are you willing to happily labor with the universe ...even pain together, but never suffer? Are you willing to always be your finest self in the universe? ...or apart? ..and avoid all accusations ...and blaming thoughts, words, and actions?

Are you willing to always perceive your relationship with the universe as a mutually-supportive community of oneness? ...and never think, believe, speak, or act to the detriment of the universe? ...or believe the universe is acting against you? Are you willing to support the universe as the universe unconditionally supports you? ...and glory with the universe? ...and in the universe?

Will you promote and revel in an emotion of belonging with the universe in a grand adventure of conscious awareness? ...and living and expressing your promiseself and meaning?

Are you willing to always and in all ways love, honor, cherish, and live your promiseself? Are you willing to cut up “the tree of knowledge of good and evil” for firewood ...to keep you secure and comfortable? Are you willing to raise yourself, the universe, and your relationship to a level that transcends all normal or even fine relationships?

Does it seem that in all of this we are asking too much of you? Well, this is just the beginning and joy of an open, honest, intimate relationship with the universe, ...are you willing to live anything less? ...and be satisfied? If so, consider that long and hard ...and wisely.

Expand your participation in the world around you.