

Article 417: How Will You Be Alive Eternally -part 2

We ended part 1 of this series with the comment, “Now, I want you to consider that you have declared how you will be alive eternally! ...in fact, you did that years ago, but your reliance on language ...and languaged-beliefs and teachings have so distorted and concealed your declaration that you hardly recognize it any more ...and thus cannot always and only live that declaration,” ...do you remember? ...so, have you considered how you have chosen to be alive?

While you consider that, we will return to Copernicus for a few moments. You remember Copernicus, don't you? ...in the 1500's he shook the very foundation of life by showing that, instead of the cosmos constantly revolving around a “fixed earth” at the center ...with the sun rising in the morning and setting at night, the earth orbited the sun ...and constantly revolved on its own axis. Though Copernicus changed everything, since the earth's revolving made the sun still come up in the morning and set in the evening, nothing seemed different ...so nothing had to change, ...and you, 500 years later, are still languaging and living the ancient beliefs that everything in your world revolves around you.

I hope you realize that Copernicus wasn't the first person to suggest a heliocentric system, for that had been proposed 2000 years earlier by a Greek ...but Copernicus advanced the idea by particularizing and more-clearly and fully describing that heliocentric process. Copernicus knew that his ideas would be rejected by the church ...which taught that man was central in the world ...and everything revolved around man, ...and he also knew that the church would consider his ideas as blasphemous ...and take action against him, as a result, Copernicus wouldn't let his ideas be published until he was on his death bed, ...and when they were published, Copernicus was reviled and denounced even in death for his views, ...so now I want to expand on Copernicus's picture.

Can you understand that the earth revolving ...and orbiting the sun along with other planets, is a continuing sequential pattern ...and is not caused? And can you see that though this pattern offers reliable constancy and consistency, such as night and day ...and seasons of the year, this pattern is obviously filled with minor, minor, minor variations due to fluctuations with other orbiting and transiting objects? ...however, though these variations are insignificant, over a long period of time they are very important and significant.

As another example, though the plates of the earth's crust may only move one inch per year, over geologic time, this movement raised Mount Everest to a height of over 29,000 feet, ...great things can be happening within you and all around you that you are unaware of.

The thing for you to realize and recall is that these actions are all sequential ...and cannot be declared to be causative or intentional.

It's important for me to insert here that these and other sequential actions clearly show that the cause and effect language of opposing dualities which you rely upon to form every belief and aspect of your self and life is completely false, which distorts and limits everything you believe and do, ...is it any wonder that your body and life are consumed with problems and struggles? ...but you don't believe this because, like the people of Copernicus's time, the next day, after he changed everything, the sun arose on time and set as usual, ...and you, believing this was causal, will continue your causal misbeliefs. The next time you go out to dinner ...to watch the sunset, remind your self that though it looks as though the sun is setting ...nothing is causing that ...and the sun isn't actually setting, ...and while you are considering that, remember that the beautiful "sunset" is merely pollution in the air.

Do you remember my story in which God set the universe acting sequentially so he could take time off from running things and spend more time at home with Mrs. God ...and little Jesus? ...if you remember that story, then you realize that Copernicus' heliosequential pattern of planetary orbits and their relationship with other suns and galaxies clearly reveals that you have chosen how you will be alive, ...do you understand?

You don't!? ...what in heavens name do you think astrology is all about? Do you really believe that the position and relationship of celestial bodies causes or determines you? ...and your life? ...and intentionally determines, causes, or controls everyday events in life? And though you might declare, "of course not, these things merely guide me, that would be equally incorrect.

Do you in any stretch of language or your imagination believe that because, for example, you were born between December 22 and January 19 that the universe has somehow intentionally destined or guided you, as a Capricorn, to be an ambitious and motivated loner? ...with a great need to be loved, admired, and appreciated? Did God declare, "Send in the Capricorns! ...we need more ambitiously motivated lovers!"?

Or maybe you believe that this is all an accident! ...can you get out of languaging long enough to realize that, being sequential, this is neither an accident nor intentional?

Actually, sequential simultaneously negates•fulfills accident and intentional ...and destroys the duality of "this OR that" in every form ...and the underlying structure of language.

However, since no finger of God appeared to you to write the small words above, and nothing dramatic has occurred to you since reading them, if you are a Leo, for example, you probably believe you were destined to rule your kingdom ...and thrive on drama and attention. Sigh!

Since all events reveal exactly how you are living your self and life, isn't it more-revealing and enrichingly fulfilling to understand that you have chosen to be alive as an ambitiously motivated loner ...or as a dramatic ruler of your kingdom ...and that is sequentially patterned within you ...and in the world around as a reminder?

Your choice of being alive, for example, as a Leo or Capricorn offers you a fall-back constancy and consistency if you otherwise deny yourself, if you fail to overreach yourself, or if you lose the truth of your self and choice to language ...and try to discover yourself.

As Copernicus declared that the sun coming up in the East and setting in the West has been mistakenly interpreted that the earth is fixed and the cosmos revolves around us, ...I am declaring that your being and living a sequential astrological-pattern, such as revolving planets orbiting the sun, does not mean that pattern in any way causes, creates, or guides you ...or predicts the circumstances, conditions, or events of your life, ...that sequential-pattern reveals how you have chosen to be alive ...and constantly reminds you of that.

This astrological pattern also provides the constancy and consistency you need as a foundation to forge your personal key to eternal knowing ...and to securely overreach yourself.
